Admissions

2016 - 2018 Cycle . . .

... another successful year

He brings with him a vast experience of over two decades in education industry and corporate world. From a training standpoint, he has delivered until recently in Pune, training at large private companies and educational entities like IBM, ICFAI, MIT & Symbiosis.

Mr. Ignesh Sakri
Training & Placement Officer
KLS IMER

Below please find excerpts from Mr. Ameet Kulkarni's interview with Mr. Ignesh Sakri.

1. What has been the recent placement record at IMER?

A. IMER has yet again had a very successful campus placement season for the class of 2017. For the 70 eligible students, 93 job offers have been made, and 63 students have accepted the offers resulting in 90% placements. The highest package offered is INR 6laks and the average package is INR 3laks.

2. You also put heavy emphasis on developing students through the internship?

A. In-company internship is a key element of the learning process and is an integral part of every program - the internship is an eight week full time individual basis at the company site where students are immersed in the business environments often working on live projects. At the completion of the internship, students prepare a comprehensive report and deliver a formal presentation to the University officials. We have noticed that good internships lead to very good placements. We are also working to set up internships on campus at the Incubation Center, and other KLS IMER Projects so that students get year round work experience.

3. How do you plan the placement activity at KLS IMER?

A. Attitude, communication and knowledge are three essentials for students to succeed in their lives. We emphasize more on these three aspects thoroughly to make our students competent and capable professionals. We provide specially designed training programs to students in order to improve them to face the interview boards more effectively.

4. How do you attain student development at KLS IMER?

A. Students are exposed to various in-house trainings to improve their skills through student assessments, training on soft skills, aptitude and communication skills. At the end of two years students overall development is achieved.

Academic Leadership

Dr. Ashok H Chachadi, former dean and director Kousali Institute of Management Studies, Karnataka University, Dharwar and Professor Emeritus Chetana Business School, Hubli, highlighted the importance of Academic leadership. He further said: "In all stages of academic institutions life, be it primary, secondary, college or university, academic leadership plays an important role. Chairmen of departments, deans of faculty, vice chancellors, registrars, play an important role in the life of students, teachers, non-teaching staff and in the life of an institution as a whole. They must be able to live up to this role of academic leadership."

He cautioned academic leaders to avoid rule book management and adopt a maturity based approach and strategy should be evolved on an individual basis for management of knowledge workers in academic institutions. He also explained the action research he has undertaken in this area as part of the research project.

Workshop - "Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis in Research Using SPSS"
