Any other suggestions relating to MBA Curriculum Design and Value added courses

- More number of practical case studies and public speaking building events.
- Need more focus and more specific on specialization that should match the candidate's skill set. The curriculum should encourage the student to choose a specific department in marketing like digital marketing or sales or retail management and efforts should be made to have in-depth study that matches and develops the skillset of the student. This will create potential in students to get placed with perfect job description or entrepreneurship.
- College fee is bit high.

- Value added courses should be held and completed as promised date with regular classes ... It should be delayed...
- Just want IMER to push more for practical knowledge through more of case studies and projects as students will anyhow pass their exams by their syllabus... If they fail they will blame them self or teachers... But if they pass and get extra weightage by extra activities they will be odd amongst all and it will be additional weightage for their resume...
- Sales and marketing life:
- Life begins at the end of your comfort zone
- Provide more practice knowledge than theoretical parts which is important for professional world.
- Would request to make student work more on local industrial visit or get the inputs from each entrepreneur about their learning
